

Special Issue on Statistical Literacy
Table of Contents:

Journal of the International Association for Official Statistics
Volume 27, Number 3-4 / 2011
Issue Title Statistical Literacy
Online date: June 7, 2011.

Editorial

How statistical literacy, official statistics and self-directed learning shaped social enquiry in the 19th and early 20th centuries by Gillian A. Lancaster

Official Statistics and statistical literacy: They need each other by Sharleen Forbes, Mike Camden, Nathaniel Pihama, Paul Bucknall and Maxine Pfannkuch

The national statistical agency as educator by Mary Townsend

Statistical literacy and awareness as strategic success factors of a national statistical office – the case of Statistics Finland by Reija Helenius and Heli Mikkela

Creating statistically literate global citizens: The use of IPUMS-International integrated census microdata in teaching by Ann Meier, Robert McCaa and David Lam

The millennium development goals, national statistical offices, the international statistical literacy project and statistical literacy in schools by Juana Sanchez, Sharleen Forbes, Pedro Campos, Paola Giacche, Mary Townsend, Gai Mooney and Reija Helenius

Statistical literacy: A new mission for data producers by Milo Schield
Copy at www.StatLit.org/pdf/2011SchieldSJIAOS.pdf

Responding to diversity in users' statistical literacy and information needs: Institutional and educational implications by Iddo Gal and Scott T. Murray

Foundations for improving statistical literacy by Jane M. Watson

Developments of AtSchool projects for improving collaborative teaching and learning in statistics by Neville Davies

Does CensusAtSchool develop statistical literacy? by Iddo Gal

Discussion by Chris J. Wild

Rejoinder to Chris Wild and Iddo Gal's Comments by Neville Davies

Source: <http://iospress.metapress.com/content/k5pl76h14441>