www.StatLit.org

Current news on statistical literacy, quantitative literacy & numeracy
Broader coverage than any other website or publication
Google rated #1 web site for Statistical Literacy
Over 175,000 visits and 200,000 downloads in 2010

StatLit News for 2010

Wired Magazine declares Statistical Literacy #1 at Wired University
NCTM President ranks statistical literacy above "algebra for all"
RSS supports Statistical Literacy in GetStats campaign
ASA supports Statistical Literacy in Stat Act 2010
Jolliffee introduces Assessing Statistical Literacy by Budgett/Pfannkuch and Schield
19% of US four-year colleges offer Statistical Literacy: 2009 SIGMAA-QL survey
ASA supports international Statistical Literacy poster competition for schools

ICOTS Statistical Literacy 2010

Jessica Utts: Don't Blame Journalists for What We Don't Teach
Gerd Gigerenzer: Toward an Evidence-Based Society
Kemp and Kissane: Five Step Framework for Interpreting Tables and Graphs
Budgett and Pfannkuch: Using media reports to promote statistical literacy
Ian Gordon and Sue Finch: Learn tothink critically about data
McKusker et al: Luring non-quantitative majors into advanced statistical reasoning
Milo Schield: Association-Causation Problems in News Stories

ASA Statistical Literacy 2010

Gerald Hahn and Necip Doganaksoy: Numbers in Everyday Life: A Short Course for Adults
Britt and Anders Wallgren: Statistical Literacy and Time-series Information
John Schmit: Teaching Statistical Literacy as Quantitative Rhetoric
Bill Goodman: An Experimental Look at the "Problem" of p-Values
Dean Brooks: Probability in Decline
Milo Schield: The Social Construction of Rankings

For details and links, go to www.StatLit.org/StatLit2010.htm
Send relevant news on numeracy to Admin@Statlit.org

You are subscribed to %%list.name%% as %%emailaddr%%.
To unsubscribe, send a blank email to:
%%email.unsub%%