

The 18th International Conference of Adult Learning Mathematics (ALM)

26th / 29th June 2011 - Institute of Technology Tallaght, Dublin 24, Ireland

The 18th International Conference of Adults Learning Mathematics (ALM)

hosted by the Institute of Technology Tallaght, Dublin, Ireland in co-operation with the National Adult Literacy Agency (NALA), Ireland and the National Centre for Excellence in Mathematics and Science Teaching and Learning

Sunday 26th June – Wednesday 29th June 2011

Venue: Institute of Technology Tallaght, Dublin, Ireland

Conference Theme

'Mathematical Eyes: A Bridge between Adults, the World and Mathematics'

The organisers particularly welcome contributions from members and non-members. Participants are encouraged to use mathematical eyes to highlight current issues, opportunities and challenges for adults learning mathematics in:

- the work environment
- all levels of education
- improving public awareness and communication
- supporting active citizenship.

In addition ALM's collaboration with the National Adult Literacy Agency gives participants and contributors a special opportunity to explore the important and enduring relationship between literacy and numeracy and what it means for adult mathematics education.

Tuesday 28th June will have a particular focus on Adults Mathematics Education for practitioners.

For more information please contact the local conference coordinator:

ALM-18 Coordinator

Department of Lifelong Learning

Institute of Technology Tallaght

Tallaght, Dublin 24, Ireland

Email: alm18conference@ittdublin.ie

Phone: + 353 1 4042101

Web: <http://www.ittdublin.ie/events/alm18conference/index.html>

